Ungettable Gets – California Chardonnay

When Chateau Montelena won the international tasting competition in France in 1976, California was put on the map as one of the top producers of chardonnay in the world. While the style of the wines continues to be defined and changed, California IS chardonnay. We have gathered together four wines for you, that while equal in quality, each reflect the uniqueness of the appellation in which they are grown. The wines are listed in order from north to south, and I encourage you to try a sampling flight, so that you can discover your favorite! Of course, if you really want to try it, I might have a bottle or two of Chateau Montelena stashed away in the cellar...
